

The Luddites are at the gates, and I strongly oppose any attempt to foolishly impede progress by administratively limiting the service that satellite radio provides to the people. I exercise my freedom of choice by spending my money on satellite radio because it offers what I want. One of those things that I want is instant traffic and weather reports, for I do not have to wait for an AM station to fit my needs in its schedule!

I strongly urge you not to inhibit the competitive marketplace by giving one segment of the industry a monopoly at the expense of the public.
